Created in 2010, the Tennessee Developers Council (TDC), provides a forum for Tennessee's rental housing development community to share ideas, network, and discuss policy issues related to tax credit and affordable housing development specifically being considered by the Tennessee Housing Development Authority (THDA) and State Legislature. Since its inception, TDC has been the sounding board for THDA to share ideas with the development community and to more efficiently receive feedback. TDC's mission is to provide a unified voice for the development community on the most important state housing issues and to effectively and efficiently communicate concerns or feedback about state policies and legislation that directly impacts affordable housing development businesses.

TDC Activities:

- Representation: TDC represents the affordable rental housing and tax credit development community on important issues at bimonthly THDA Board and Tax Credit Committee meetings as well as the State Legislature;
- Connectivity: TDC hosts monthly council conference calls to keep members apprised of the most pressing tax credit and multifamily housing issues in Tennessee;
- Information: TDC publishes regular memos to members on Council activities and relevant Tennessee affordable housing news;
- Collaboration: TDC fosters collaboration among developers and in general the affordable housing and tax credit development community.

National Housing & Rehabilitation Association (NH&RA) provides managerial and administrative support to TDC. The membership dues structure is the same for both organizations so members of TDC receive all the benefits available to NH&RA members, including Council participation. Membership is by company and organization—allowing all employees to benefit from a TDC membership.
